INTERNET

BY HAMISH WINNICOTT

WHAT IS THE INTERNET

The internet is a big online thing built up of millions of different websites

A website is normally based upon one subject and websites can be any thing from shops to dictionaries and they can do a lot of helpful things
It also can tell you lots of useful information like a encyclopedia would

Some people say that the internet is making us lazy and doing every thing for us but some people argue without the internet we would not have made such progress in scientific research

BROWSERS AND WEBSITES

A browser is what you use when searching some thing up on the internet

An example of some browsers could be google, safari and firefox

There are many websites out there but some of the most used ones include amazon (a massive online shop that sell millions of products) and news websites

STAYING SAFE WHILST USING THE INTERNET

Whilst the internet may be very beneficial there are still many dangers including details being stolen and people pretending to be some one else and finding out your address and school

When you are online you should always make sure that a website is secure before you give any login details

Never chat to any one you do not no on a game or website and never give any personal details away